OLEGE! RGARINE. Tae Sate Depar ment of Agriculture has issued the following carcular: The attention of manufacturers, dealers, hotels, resta "ante and barding-house keepers in this State, celling, explang for ale or serving elemanga ine, butterine and substi utes for pure butter, is directed to Senio 1 1899 -B of the Orde of Virginia, and to chapters 188 and 372 Acts of Assembly 1908 which provide for the of pay of signs in conspicuous places in their factories, stores, dining and lunch rooms, etc., which sign must bear the words printed in black letters one inch square on a white tackground: "We sell Oleon argarine here" -"We serve Oleomargarine here." Satisfied by personal observation and numerous complaints that the requirements of the aw are not observed in connection with the sale in at res and the serving in some of the hotels and res aurants of the S ste of oleomargarine and substitutes for pure butter, made from on am and milk, and believing some proprietors are income thy serving substiutes for butter, it is desired by this deariment that those interested may inform themselves as to the requirements of the law and proceed at once to comply with the tame. The penalties for failure to comply with the law are quite severe and bis Department hopes they may not have to be invoked to insure its observance, at the same time it desires those interested to take notice of its purpose to vigorously enforce the law as it stands on the satute books and deems this notice of its purpose due warning to manufacturers of and dealers in oleoma garine and substitutes for pure butter and to all persons keeping places of pub-lic entertainment where food is served. Our inspect ra are instructed to give tais subject special attention at once.

Colds and Croup in Children,

"My little girl is subject to colds says Mrs. Wm. H. Serig, No. 41 Fifth St. Wheeling, W. Va. "Lust winter she had a severe spell and a terrible cough, but I cured her with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without the aid of a doctor, and my little boy has been prevented many times from Laving the croup by the timely use of this syrup. This remedy is for sale by W. F. Oreighton and Richard Gibson.

In the number of the Tatler for Oct. 6, 1709, it is observed that "a cane is part of the dress of a prig" (this, by the way, shows the erroneous notion prevalent that "priggishness" is a modern word) "and always worn upon a button, for fear he should be thought to have an occasion for it or be esteem ed really and not genteelly a cripple." In the number of Nov. 18 a rural squire in town is sketched who is the prototype of one of the pavement nulsances: "His arms naturally swung at an unreasonable distance from his sides, which, with the advantage of a cane that he brandished in a great variety of irregular motions, made it unsafe for any one to walk within several yards of him." And under date of Dec. 5 there is an amusing sketch of "a lively, fresh colored young man" who was among the applicants to Isaac Bickerstaff's court of censorship for license to use "canes, perspective glasses, snuffboxes, orange flower waters and the like ornaments of life." This young man had his cane hanging on his fifth button and was "an Oxford scholar who was just entered at the temple."

A Wedding Superstition. It has been considered unlucky to be in May ever since Ovid, and those people who have spent their time in looking up roots and reasons have given what they conside to be the origin of the superstition as follows:

In ancient Rome there was held in May a festival called the Lemuria, or feast of the Lemures, which was a ceremony in honor of the speeches departed souls. It became with the Romans what we should call "bad form" to have matrimonial feasts at the season of a solemn ritual, being no doubt thought to be an insult to the dead to marry at such a time. From this a number of stories grew of the revenge made by the outraged ghosts upon those who dared to disregard them, and if anything unfortunate hap pened to a couple who had been mar ried in May it would, of course, have been put down to retribution. So the tradition of ill luck arose, and its influence has lasted ever since, even to Towed by a Halibut.

About the mouths of the streams or which salmon camps are situated the Indian dogs and children amuse them selves catching the fish. Some of the youngsters are so small that after the the combined efforts of the party are often required to dispatch it and carry t to camp. I have watched dogs run ning about in a rift snapping at the salmon and apparently having the time of their lives.

One of the most amusing sights that saw during my stay in Alaska was two Indian boys being towed about the harbor at Kadiak by a huge hall-but they had just hooked. Utterly unable to land the fish, they had fastened the line to the stern of the boat, and while they pulled with all their might each one at an oar, they rallied each other for not exerting more strength and shouted loudly for help. Finally an Indian put out in a boat, and the fish was landed.-Forest and Stream,
